

Colonel's Fate Up To 11 Men In Court-Martial

FT. SHERIDAN, Ill. (AP)—An 11-officer court was expected to begin deliberations today on charges that Lt. Col. Harry Fleming collaborated with the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea.

Defense and prosecution summaries were given Monday at the court-martial.

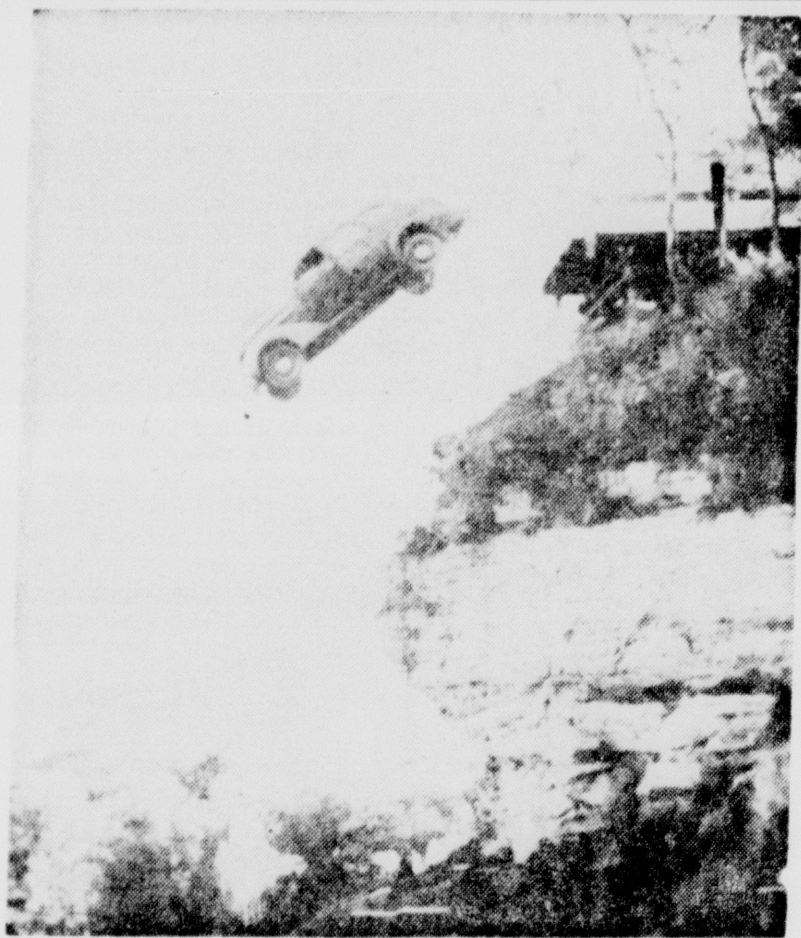

If convicted, Fleming faces a maximum sentence of life imprisonment, dismissal from the Army, and forfeiture of all pay and privileges. A conviction would be subject to review by the Fifth Army judge advocate, the Fifth Army commanding general, and the Judge Advocate General in Washington.

An acquittal would terminate any further action by the military on the charges.

The Army prosecutor, Lt. Col. John R. Pritchard, asked the court in his summation after three weeks of testimony to find Fleming guilty, saying there "were no excuses for the acts" attributed to Fleming.

Fleming, 46, of Racine, Wis., also is accused of informing his captors on other POWs and of causing four to be sent to "the caves," a Red "death camp" where many Americans died. Other charges are that he participated in Red propaganda broadcasts and publicly accused the United Nations and United States of being the illegal aggressors in the Korean conflict.

Fleming's defense was that any questionable acts he may have committed while a POW for three years were done under duress and with the hope of keeping himself and his fellow prisoners alive.

Roosevelt-Harriman Contest Top Feature In New York Election

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The campaign for control of Congress was temporarily eclipsed today by a contest between Averell Harriman and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

The edge appeared to lie with Harriman, former foreign aid director and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952. But Roosevelt predicted he would win in "a very close contest."

Balloting at the party's convention in New York City comes tonight.

New York Republicans, convening at Syracuse, were prepared to give their gubernatorial nomination to U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's choice to succeed him. Dewey plans to return to private life.

Harriman had the backing of Tammy Hall and other influential party leaders as Ives' November opponent. Roosevelt, however, claimed "surprising" support from New York City to augment upstate strength.

In the Democratic primary in Rhode Island Monday, the state ticket headed by Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 86, and Gov. Dennis J. Roberts had no opposition for renomination. The state GOP primary is scheduled Sept. 29.

Far to the west, President Eisenhower arranged to confer during the day with Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee, and two of Hall's aides, in advance of a speaking trip to the West Coast later this week.

The President returned from a mountain vacation to his Denver summer headquarters Monday and did some more work on four speeches he will make during the coming three days.

Snoozer Spared Tag

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A policeman, with a soft heart, started to write an overtime parking ticket here Monday, then took another look at the driver, obviously fagged out and asleep at the wheel. He put his pencil in his pocket, took out a nickel, inserted in the meter and walked away.

The driver snoozed on.

State Of Siege Opposed In Chile

By CARLOS BARRY

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Opposition political parties called emergency meetings today to map action in the face of President Carlos Ibanez's declaration of a state of siege — a modified martial law. Opposition leaders criticized the decree as unnecessary.

The vigorous 76-year-old chief executive imposed the state of siege Monday, charging the country was threatened by violence and a general strike planned by Communist elements.

His opponents maintained no internal troubles justified the move. A wave of strikes in the copper field, which have crippled the nation's economy for about a month, appears nearing a settlement.

Ibanez is accustomed to being a storm center. During his first administration as president — from 1929 to 1931 — he was hotly attacked for iron-fisted dealings with Congress, the press and opposition parties.

His decree seems certain to draw fire when Congress reassembles Thursday in extraordinary session to debate the President's move.

Embassy Attempts To Free Americans Arrested By Czechs

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Embassy in Prague said today it is pushing negotiations for the release of two American soldiers seized by a Communist Czech patrol last Friday.

"We're still trying to get them released," an embassy spokesman said. "We're always hopeful about these things. It's much too early to be pessimistic."

The two soldiers are Lt. Richard P. Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y., and Pfc. George Pisk of Austin, Tex. They were arrested while on an official mission along the Czech-West German border.

The Czechs have accused them of spying, a charge denied by the U. S. Army. The Army also says they were on the West German side of the border when seized.

Dutch Diplomat Heads General Assembly Of UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A Dutchman with 35 years experience in international affairs was a shoo-in choice today for president of the ninth U.N. General Assembly as delegates gathered for their opening session this afternoon.

The election of Dr. Eelco Nicolaas van Kleffens to the top Assembly post became a virtual certainty when his only announced opponent, Prince Wan Wai-thayakon of Thailand, withdrew Monday.

Heads Delegation
Van Kleffens, 59, is Netherlands minister to Portugal and head of the Dutch delegation to the 60-nation Assembly.

Van Kleffens was born in Heer-enveen, a small factory town in the peatbog country of Friesland, northern Holland. He attended the University of Leyden and in 1918, at 23, won his degree of doctor of law.

The next year he went to work in the legal branch of the League of Nations Secretariat in Geneva, quitting two years later to work in London as a legal aide to the Royal Netherlands Petroleum Co.

Exiled To Britain
Van Kleffens came back to the international swim in 1922, as assistant director of the legal department of the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

In 1939 he reached the diplomatic top at home when a Cabinet crisis resulted in his appointment as minister of foreign affairs instead.

Nine months later, as the Germans drove toward the Hague, Van Kleffens and his wife fled in a crippled navy hydroplane to Brighton, England. In Britain he became foreign minister in exile.

Remaining foreign minister after the liberation, Van Kleffens headed the Netherlands delegation to the 1945 San Francisco conference which organized the United Nations.

In 1946 and 1947 he was his country's permanent representative to the U.N. From 1947 to 1950 he was ambassador to Washington, and since then has been in Lisbon.

Van Kleffens was married in the Hague in 1935, to Margaret Horstman. Her mother was American—Catherine van Cott of Salt Lake City, who married a Rotterdam oil executive. The Van Kleffens have no children.

Nixon At Negaunee And Lansing Today

NEGAUNEE (AP)—The Republican faithful flocked to this central Upper Peninsula city today to hear Vice-President Nixon deliver the first of two Michigan political talks on a national political swing.

Despite an all-morning drizzle a crowd estimated at 2,500 turned out at Marquette's Sawyer Air Field to welcome Nixon to the Upper Peninsula.

Low hanging clouds, however, caused the vice president to delay for a half hour his scheduled mid-day landing. He flew here from Omaha, Neb.

Quemoy Guns Step Up Shelling Of Red Bases

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist guns on Quemoy stepped up the bombardment of the Red mainland today and Nationalist air-sea strikes along the coast continued for the 19th straight day, the Defense Ministry announced.

War planes were credited with damaging three Red gunboats of about 1,000 tons each, sinking 15 military junks and damaging 32, including a big motorized junk.

Lt. Gen. Chang Yi-tien, the army spokesman, said artillery fired against Amoy and other Red bases has become heavier and that Nationalist batteries fired more shells than the Communists Monday for the first time since the five-hour Red barrage of Sept. 3 which touched off the fighting.

Williams And Leonard Debate Over Need For Legislative Majority

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. Williams and Donald S. Leonard, the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor of Michigan, have had their first encounter of the 1954 political campaign.

And they debated this central theme, promulgated by Leonard: "The once crucial and predominant issue is that we need a governor of the same political faith as the majority of the Legislature if you are seriously interested in solving the many problems facing Michigan today."

Sigler Regime Recalled
Leonard said he would agree that if the state elects a Democratic legislature it should have a Democratic governor, too. But he argued that "predominantly, Republican" Michigan will continue to elect a Republican-dominated legislature.

Williams argued that a governor and legislature of the same party do not insure "forward action." He recalled, he said, that his predecessor, the late Republican Kim Sigler, had "more good dog fights" with the Republican Legislature than at any time in history.

Former Gov. Harry F. Kelly, a Republican, had legislative troubles, too, he said.

Williams said a former Democratic governor, Murray D. Van Wagoner, had a good record of co-operating with Republicans.

In rebuttal Leonard said Williams cannot claim that cooperation.

Governor Balks
He said Mayor Cobo of Detroit tried to get Williams help to finance the Detroit expressway system and that Williams "balked" unless Cobo would endorse the governor's corporation profits tax plan.

Leonard charged Williams with having the "unmitigated gall" to claim he had solved the state deficit when actually Williams had "sat on the sidelines as a complete heckler" when the Republican Legislature was passing the business receipts tax to balance

Verdict Predicted Next Monday In McCarthy Censure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today they hope to hand down their "verdict" Monday.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC), a committee member, said in an interview he now expects the report to be made public Monday, instead of on Thursday of this week as the committee had planned tentatively.

Another member, who declined to be quoted by name, confirmed the new target date.

The special committee of three Democrats and three Republicans a week ago finished taking public testimony on the resolution by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) to censure McCarthy for what the Vermonters termed conduct unbecoming a senator.

Clergymen Leap As C46 Plunges Down In Flames

By HERBERT D. WILHOIT

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—Praying as they parachuted in shirtsleeves, 15 chaplains landed safely minutes before their disabled Air Force C46 plane crashed and burned Monday. The three crewmen also bailed out successfully.

"You can be sure there was plenty of praying going on," said the Rev. Lertis R. Ellett of Lawn-dale, Calif., Church of Christ, who is an Air Force reserve colonel.

"This was an occasion when, doubly, we were practicing what we preach; namely, prayer," said the Rev. Neville E. Carlson of Fillmore, Calif.

"The Lord was with us in many ways, even to the fact that the fire in one engine was on the right side of the plane and the door through which we jumped was on the left," said the Rev. Bertil Von Norman of the West Hollywood Presbyterian Church.

The group of Civil Air Patrol chaplains from Southern California left Burbanks at 1:03 p.m. (CST) in the C46, bound for a regional CAP chaplains' conference at Sacramento scheduled for Monday night and today.

The plane crew included the pilot, Capt. Thomas E. Willson, North Highland, Calif.; Lt. Earl W. Meredith Jr., Sacramento, and Sgt. Lloyd Plew, Globe, Ariz., all stationed at McClelland AFB, Sacramento.

The chaplains and crew were wearing back parachutes and had been briefed before take-off but none of the ministers had ever jumped before.

Minutes after the departure, smoke began trailing from the C46. Vibration was felt in the ship, then the right engine caught fire.

As Lt. Meredith and Sgt. Plew carried the pilot's instructions to the chaplains to bail out at about 3,000 feet, the right engine fell away. Mr. Von Norman, a CAP major, was credited by his colleagues with calm heroism as he helped the chaplains adjust their 'chutes and shepherded them out the door. He was the last chaplain to bail out. The crew followed.

With Capt. Willson the last to jump when the ship was probably no more than 1,000 feet up just west of the Los Angeles Police Rehabilitation Farm for Alcoholics at nearby Saugus.

The plane crashed and burned on the farm, only 75 feet from where the nearest inmates were working.

A half dozen of the chaplains suffered cuts or bruises, wrenched legs or shoulders but none was seriously hurt.

Convicts Caught In Sewer Break

ATLANTA (AP)—Heavily armed possemen with bloodhounds have finished their roundup of four convicts who escaped from the Atlanta Federal penitentiary last week.

All were back in their cells today. The last one recaptured was George Ellis, 29, a Chicago bank robber. Torn and bleeding from running through underbrush, he was seized near Buchanan Monday.

He was captured about half a mile from an abandoned house in which his companion in escape, Charles Edward Stegall, was found Sunday night. They escaped from the penitentiary Wednesday.

Two other prisoners, George H. Evans and Charles R. Perry, who escaped Friday, were captured near the prison a few hours after they got out.

All four escaped through a 15-inch sewer pipe leading under the prison walls into nearby Woodland.

Fight Over Demands To Seat Red China Delays UN Session

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A new fight over anticipated demands to seat Red China threatened today to delay — at least briefly — organization of the ninth United Nations General Assembly.

Russia, India and some other Asian countries were expected to launch the new struggle to replace the Chinese Nationalists with Peiping representatives shortly after the session's formal opening this afternoon.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles was on hand to lead the campaign for keeping up the bars against the Chinese Reds. The United States, backed by Britain, planned to ask the Assembly to shelve the question until the end of the year. The same strategy was used last year to keep Peiping out.

Both the Americans and the British were confident of a clear winning majority. To strengthen their case, U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. in a weekend statement charged the Chinese Communists with 39 attacks in the past four years on ships or planes of Britain, Panama, Denmark, Norway, France, Portugal and the United States.

With the seating contest out of the way, organization of the Assembly for business promised to be smooth sailing.

Withdrawal of Thailand's Prince Wan Wai-thayakon from the Assembly presidency race yesterday left the field clear for Eelco van Kleffens, Netherlands minister to Portugal and the only other announced candidate for the post.

Wife Drifts Alone In Boat 40 Hours After Husband Dies

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—For 40 hours after her husband died, Mrs. Iva B. Soncrant was alone with her body on rough Lake Erie in their disabled outboard motor boat.

"I prayed and I cried...only the thought of my three sons kept me battling when the odds against me seemed so large," she said Monday after fishermen found her 4½ miles offshore and rescued her.

Mrs. Soncrant said she and her husband, Joseph, 57, of Toledo, went fishing Saturday. The boat's motor stalled and Soncrant collapsed while trying to start it.

She said she did not realize Soncrant was dead for two hours. For 40 hours she tried unsuccessfully to attract passing boats with screams and a piece of her skirt used as a flag.

She had to keep bailing water from waves out of her boat to keep it from foundering.

"One of my sons is only 20, and I thought he needed me more than his father is gone," she said, "so I kept praying and pumping..."

Doctor To Face Trial As Killer

By BILL NEWKIRK

CLEVELAND (AP)—Unless his attorneys do something to prevent it, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard will go on trial Oct. 18 on a first degree murder charge in the bludgeoning of his pregnant wife.

Sheppard was a solemn-faced loser Monday in a battle to win release on bail. He was led back to his jail cell after Judge Edward Blythin ruled he could find no evidence that a grand jury indictment had not been properly found and presented.

Sheppard's attorney, William Corrigan, told newsmen later he may file a writ of habeas corpus in the Court of Appeals, contending his client is held in custody unlawfully. Such a writ could be given an immediate hearing.

The attorney declared the indictment against the 30-year-old osteopath was the result of "public clamor which was stirred by the press" in an attempt to sell more newspapers.

All three of Cleveland's big daily newspapers expressed views before Dr. Sheppard was arrested last July 30 that authorities were proceeding too cautiously. From the start, Sheppard has insisted he was innocent and that a bushy-haired man entered the house and clubbed his wife.

Nude Pictures Not Obscene, Says Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Municipal Judge Frank Myers has ruled that "a beautiful woman with a beautiful body" can pose for nude photographs without necessarily being obscene.

The judge said Monday a woman might in later years want to look with nostalgia at such photos should she feel "nature has dealt unkindly with those beautiful talents."

"Nudeness is not, as such, obscene," Judge Myers ruled, acquitting Murry Levy, 41, of a charge of keeping obscene photos in his studio.

2.08 Inches Of Rain Falls Here

The gloomy overcast skies and rainy weather took a day off yesterday but returned last night dumping 2.08 inches of rain on Escanaba. Lightning and thunderstorms and a brief flurry of hail early last night preceded the heavy rains.

The most recent rainfall boosted the total for this month to 6 1/2 inches. Another day or two like yesterday and the all time record of 9.48 inches set in 1881 will be broken. There are still nine days left in this month for the rain-maker to change the record books.

Weatherman Decker looks for the rain to end today and return again Friday. In the meantime the temperatures will drop below normal depending on the amount of cloudiness. On clear days the mercury will sink to the high 50's and the night readings will be in the mid 40's.

Except for the usual run of flooded basements and fields, no extensive storm damage was reported in the Escanaba area.

Gowan said that M-28 Association maps were being distributed at the Straits of Mackinac industry.

Farmer Fined In Lapeer Tiff

LAPEER (P)—John Donovan, who pleaded guilty to obstructing justice in the eviction of a Lapeer farm widow, Monday received a suspended sentence and was ordered to pay court costs totaling $100.

Donovan pleaded guilty to obstructing Lapeer County Sheriff Clark Gregory in his efforts to oust the late Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens from her home in June, 1952. The home had been sold at court order to meet an assessment against a bankrupt insurance group.

Donovan, of Inlay City, pleaded guilty before six other farmers went to trial on similar charges. The six others were acquitted at their trial last week in Charlotte.

The suspended sentence, handed down by Judge Timothy C. Quinn, apparently ends the long-drawn-out prosecutions stemming from the eviction.

Mail Deluge Brings $7,184 In Coins For Mt. Pleasant Couple

MT. PLEASANT (P)—A once broad stream of nickels has run down to a trickle for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deibel.

But, just the same, when they stopped counting Monday night they had toted up $7,184 in nickels that Mrs. Deibel's appearance on Garry Moore's television show started flowing to this mid-Michigan city.

Mrs. Deibel said she doubted now the final tally would be as much as $10,000, but added: "We still had some mail left when we quit counting last night."

Postmaster Raymond Hooker said only 1,000 letters arrived for the Deibels today, compared with 25,000 at the height of the mail deluge.

Gibraltar Becomes Village To Collect $135,000 Tax Plum

DETROIT (P)—Nearby Gibraltar, unincorporated for more than 150 years, voted Monday to accept a village charter.

The move was designed to reap some $135,000 in village taxes yearly from the McLaughlin Steel Corp., which is building a $12,000,000 plant within the village limits. Gibraltar would be ineligible to collect the tax without the charter.

The 430 to 25 vote climaxed a 10-month battle between Gibraltar and neighboring Trenton, which has been trying to annex the land the plant will be built on.

Gibraltar has a population of 1,500.

War Dead Exchange Told By Escanaban

The exchange of Allied and Communist dead in Korea was described by Pvt. Robert Olson in a recent letter to his mother.

Mrs. Roy Olson, 1212 1st Ave. N. Pvt. Olson told his mother that the last of 14,000 Communist dead were lying in tents awaiting exchange for 4,011 UN Korean War dead.

Olson wrote: "This historic body exchange started last Wednesday and is expected to run for weeks. It could settle the fate of some 230 Americans still listed by the Defense Department as missing here in Korea." He added, "Never before in military history has a body exchange of this nature been included in an armistice agreement. Here in Korea we call this 'Glory Railroad.'" The solemnity of the exchange was described by Olson who has been in Seoul, Korea since October of last year.

"There is much to see in Korea that the people back home would never know," Olson writes. "These Korean people, young and old come along and help us GI's pick stones. They gather rocks so they can build themselves a church to worship in a true Christian way."

He added, "When I first landed here I was picking reasons why Korea was such a worthless land but after seeing these people work in blinding downpouring rain have changed my attitude."

The work of building churches, houses and schools goes on all day and sometimes into the night, Olson wrote. He said that he didn't think all the land mines would ever be found in the rice

Forest Ranger Crook To Leave Manistique

Forest Ranger Edwin R. Crook of the Manistique District is being transferred to the Laona District of the Nicolet National Forest in Wisconsin, it was announced today in Escanaba by C. L. Harrison, forest supervisor of the Upper Michigan National Forest.

Crook has been in charge of the Manistique District since 1949, at which time he transferred there from a similar position on the Shawnee National Forest in southern Illinois. He entered the Forest Service in 1933 on the Huron National Forest in Lower Michigan at East Tawas. He later served at various stations on that Forest and became District Ranger in Illinois in 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Crook and their two daughters expect to leave for their new assignment in Wisconsin about Sept. 25.

Crook will be succeeded at Manistique by Daniel L. Ricker, who is now stationed at Laona, as assistant forest ranger. Ricker, who was with the U. S. Air Force during World War II, graduated from the school of forestry at the University of Michigan in 1948. Following that he entered the employment of the Forest Service and has since served on the Ottawa, Superior and Nicolet National Forests, first as a field assistant and since 1951 as assistant district ranger.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricker and their three children are expected to arrive in Manistique about Sept. 27.

Settlement Of Hoyler & Baur Strike Is Good News Locally

SETTLEMENT of the Hoyler & Baur Baking Company strike after an 81-day shutdown is a welcome development for a number of reasons. First of all, of course, it is important because it marks the end of a labor dispute that has extended over a long period of time, affecting 35 Escanaba families.

Secondly, it is noteworthy because it restores complete harmony in the labor relations field in this area. The recent settlement of the Montgomery Ward dispute and the agreement now reached in the Hoyler & Baur operations ended the last of the work stoppages caused by labor disputes. Still another benefit that will accrue as a result of the settlement is the return to the stores in this area of local bakery products that have gained and held strong consumer acceptance for a long period of years.

We trust that the Escanaba bakery will gain a restoration of the markets that it was forced to yield when the bakery suspended operations early in July.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

A gentleman's first duty, my father always used to say, is to come to the aid of a woman in distress. It's a tradition perhaps more honored in the breach than in the observance in these days of slack-wearing, pipe-smoking "emancipated" females. But who could resist this plea so amusingly presented by a self-styled "reader in distress" up in Green Bay, Wisconsin?

"Some time ago," she writes, "you had in your column a word pronounced see-lee-OL-uh-jee. I can't remember how to spell it, only the pronunciation. We have had many heated arguments about it. People (all my friends, I should say) are claiming that I dreamed that one up."

"We all try to spring new words on one another and I told them I was going to be a see-lee-OL-uh-jist some day. I hope there is such a word or I'm going to have an awful red face. So please answer me. This is driving me buggy."

Well, dear lady, you are only one letter away from a triumph over your scoffing friends and the missing letter is "p." For the word you have in mind is "speleology," the science of exploring underground regions, especially caves. While it is not likely that you will ever become a fully accredited member of the national society of professional speleologists, there is a good chance that you can find somewhere nearby an informal group of cave explorers which you may join to make good your boast.

If you do carry things this far, you'll probably not be calling yourself a speleologist, though. You will be rejoicing in the proud title of "spelunker"—the nickname which followers of this unusual new hobby have chosen for themselves.

Incidentally, that practice you and your friends have of "springing" new words on each other is an excellent idea. Don't be discouraged by the omission of a single letter from so unusual a word as speleology. You certainly rate an "A" for effort and continuing this "word game" with your friends is bound to pay handsome dividends in the form of larger and more useful vocabularies for all of you.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

One big reason why the New York Yankees win so many pennants is that their front office Napoleon, George Weiss, is just about the shrewdest trader since David Harum—and a walking encyclopedia of baseball knowledge. G. W. has a deceptive habit of nodding in his chair at banquets, meetings, and even in restaurants. Bill Corum recalls a meeting where a certain player's merits were being discussed. Weiss thought, was sound asleep, but at the height of the argument, he whipped out a memorandum. "That fellow," he reported "hit .342 in 86 games with Bloomington in '49, moved up to Kansas City where he batted .293 in '51, bats and throws right-handed, is fairly fast and—we don't want him." Then he went back to sleep.

The Doctor Says...
Bed Rest Recommended For Whooping Cough Victims

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

With opening of the schools the risk from whooping cough rises rapidly. A single child with whooping cough entering school can spread the disease to most of the rest.

Children from one to 10 years old are most likely to be attacked, but older children, adults and infants under six weeks old can catch it. In infants and old people it is particularly serious. Vomiting often accompanies whooping cough and when tiny children get the disease they may become starved and thin simply because they are not getting enough food.

THE TIME between exposure and appearance of symptoms varies from four to 20 days, but is usually about 10. At first the symptoms seem like an ordinary cold, with slight fever, running nose, watering eyes, and slight cough.

After a week or 10 days the cough begins to become worse and the typical paroxysms set in. The fit of coughing usually begins with a series of 15 to 20 forced short coughs without any breaths in between. The child may get blue in the face and then take a deep breath of air which sounds like a whoop.

SEVERAL FITS of coughing may come one after the other until a small amount of sticky mucus is coughed up which may bring temporary relief. When vomiting occurs, it usually comes at the end of the whoop.

Whooping cough carries some danger to life particularly in infants and old people. The coughing spells place the lungs under severe strain. Pneumonia can develop; asthma, bronchitis, and other lung complications are fairly common.

THE WHOOPING COUGH patient should be kept away from others who might become infected. Rest in bed, good nursing care, and special attention to the nutrition, especially if there is vomiting, is necessary. Most doctors believe that the vaccine against whooping cough will give active immunity and protection to children. It is usually best to begin these injections before the child is six months old or at least not later.

Those of us who have had whooping cough can usually remember the unpleasant episodes even if it occurred quite early in childhood.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Less spectacular than some of the international and national happenings of the last few days, but far reaching in its possible effect on the economic system of the United States, is the battle which has been going on behind the scenes inside the administration on whether or not to approve a proposed merger of the Bethlehem and Youngstown Steel companies.

The decision tentatively made by the Department of Justice and submitted by Attorney General Brownell in Denver to President Eisenhower several days ago was not to approve the merger, but the opportunity has been afforded to lawyers for the two steel companies to argue the matter this week before the department's antitrust division.

If the merger were to go into effect it would mean that the U. S. Steel Corporation with its 32 per cent of the total capacity in America and the merged companies with about 19 per cent—though in competition—would together have a volume in excess of 50 per cent of the industry. This would mean 65,000,000 out of 120,000,000 tons of steel-making capacity per year.

CONCENTRATION OF BUSINESS

Time was when mergers didn't matter much unless some company by itself got from 70 to 80 per cent of the annual volume of business. The Supreme Court of the United States in defining what is or is not a monopoly has never laid down a mathematical percentage rule. But in the domain of politics there has been a steady stream of criticism articulated at congressional investigating committee hearings against letting three or four companies dominate an industry though no one of them had a monopoly. This concentration of business in the hands of a few companies has been called "oligopoly" and the subject has been especially agitated by Representative Emmanuel Celler of New York, Democrat, who was chairman of the House Judiciary Committee in the last Congress and probably will get the same post if the Democrats gain control in the November congressional election.

Looked at from an economic standpoint solely, the merger of the two companies—Bethlehem and Youngstown—would furnish a real competitor to the U. S. Steel Corporation by setting up a new national enterprise. Since Bethlehem has plants on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, the addition of Youngstown's facilities would enable the merged company to have a midwest as well as an eastern and far western opportunity to compete with existing steel companies in those areas.

Ever since freight absorption became the vital factor it is today in the competition between steel companies situated at a distance from the particular market sought, the geographical location of plants in different sections of the country has become of paramount importance.

REDUCED PRODUCTION

While—if the merger took place—competition would be eliminated as between Youngstown and Bethlehem, theoretically there might be reduced costs to the public through the consolidation of staffs, sales organizations and skills. But this test has become in recent years of less importance to the government in shaping its policy toward mergers as the fear of lessened competition has become of greater concern.

The Department of Justice cannot actually prevent the merger because only the courts can decide whether the consolidation is in violation of the letter or the spirit of the antitrust laws. The negative statement, however, expected to be issued this week by the Department of Justice, is equivalent to notice that any steps taken to consummate the merger would be met with an application for a court injunction. Since mergers are handled these days by an exchange of equity securities, the interjection of legal proceedings would make difficult an immediate effectuation of the merger itself and for all practical purposes it would be held in abeyance until the court case, which might take months or years, is finally decided.

It is known that several of the steel companies which would be competing with the merged company have expressed themselves to the government in unequivocal terms as opposed to the merger. Some have said that they themselves would be compelled to merge in self-protection if the Youngstown-Bethlehem combination went through. Certainly the Eisenhower administration, which has been accused of favoring big business, is on the spot politically in the controversy, and it may well be hereafter that consolidations which sponsors feel are justified on economic grounds will be prevented because of political factors.

Certainly the whole merger question in industries of all kinds will be directly or indirectly affected by the final disposition of the proposed steel merger. The auto industry, for example, has in it a three-company domination of the market, but mergers are being permitted among the lesser units there in order to build up more competition against the big three. So the merger question isn't all black or all white, and the courts which do not have to think about elections can alone make the final decision in the public interest.

Antibiotics Join Fight Against Plant Disease; Control Blight

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The use of antibiotic "miracle" drugs against plant diseases could cause as big a revolution in agriculture as it has in human medicine.

This is revealed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture following its recent announcement that a streptomycin-terramycin spray had been developed which effectively controls the costly pear blight.

The pear blight victory is considered the breakthrough in the new battle of the antibiotics against plant diseases. USDA, British and state agricultural experts all have launched major research projects in the field during the past 12 months.

John C. Dunegan, the USDA pathologist who did most of the work on the pear blight spray, says: "Several years ago I publicly lamented that plant pathologists did not have magic control materials like DDT which are possessed by our entomological colleagues. But the antibiotic materials offer possibilities of disease control we hardly dared dream of 10 years ago."

Attention of USDA experts was first directed to the possibility of antibiotics for plant diseases in 1950 by Dr. Alexander Fleming of England, discoverer of penicillin. English scientists had just begun exploring the field. But it has only been in the last 12 months that major studies have been launched on a wide variety of plant diseases.

High cost and limited supply of the drugs are problems in the picture, but not insurmountable. Last year the U. S. drug industry produced 740 tons of the five most-used antibiotics. Great expansion is possible, with the price coming down through mass production.

Further, only relatively small quantities of the drugs—about 38 grams in 100 gallons of water—are needed.

Some West Coast growers are expected to use the new pear spray next year on their commercial orchards. At the present price of about 20 cents per gram of the crude drug, it's estimated that it will cost about $68 per acre per season to apply.

That's economical for many growers because the old-type spray damaged the skin of the pears, forcing growers to sell at a lower price only to canners.

The effectiveness of the new spray is proved by a test with 600 Bartlett pear trees. On a group of unsprayed trees there were an average of nine infections in each tree, while in the treated trees only one infection in every six trees was found.

Several lesser known antibiotics have been tried successfully against apple tree diseases. A California test has shown that a bacterial canker of tomato plants is greatly reduced by soaking the tomato seeds in a streptomycin solution before planting. Certain potato seed diseases are being licked the same way.

In the tropics studies are under way with an antibiotic called musarin for the control of various banana diseases.

Tobacco blue mold, a fungus disease, has been controlled in lab tests with sprays of streptomycin. Preliminary tests indicate a degree of control better than that obtained with the standard treatment.

"MIRACLE DRUG" SOLUTION drips into trunk of pear tree during USDA tests to control costly pear blight. Injection method like this is believed less satisfactory than spraying Blue mold costs tobacco raisers millions of dollars each year.

USDA marketing experts have also tried spraying spinach with an antibiotic before being packed, with the result that it stayed fresh two days longer than normal. Antibiotics to keep perishables fresh longer is a major field being explored.

British research has produced comparable results. Their plant experts have discovered that the drugs are absorbed into the plant systems. This discovery makes spraying easier and cheaper. The spray does not have to cover the entire surface of a plant to be effective.

U. S. research reveals that putting the antibiotic into the earth to get it into the plant system, or injecting it into the trunk of a tree, is not as satisfactory as spraying. But there is still much to be learned about the best method of application of the drugs.

Another problem is the effect of the drugs on humans. The experts aren't too concerned about this because of the minute amounts of the drugs used. And they could have a helpful effect.

Nearly all the scientists working on the projects agree on one point: they have not yet scratched the surface and a revolution in the treatment of all plant diseases is in the offing.

Good Evening....

By CLINT DUNATHAN

TALKING SHOP—What do newspaper editors and reporters talk about when they meet in state conference? Don't be silly. They talk about themselves, of course.

Having just returned from such a meeting in Lower Michigan, I would like to report that so far as I could observe the newspapermen of Lower Michigan still have a great deal to learn about conditions in that region described as the Upper Peninsula.

"I suppose you have good skiing at Escanaba," said one editor whose home is near the Ohio border. "You have a big ice show up there every winter, I hear."

When we told him that around Escanaba the skiing has ranged from poor to no snow at all, and that warm weather in February nearly turned the ice show into a water carnival, he backed away hurriedly. Later, I heard him observe to a pal that "that guy from Escanaba sure has a peculiar sense of humor."

By the same token, we discovered that our knowledge of Lower Michigan was exceedingly spotty. For example, we know as little about the area around Niles, Mich., as the Lower Michigan chap knows about this locality when he asked us how many Escanaba men are employed in the iron mines!

THE PESSIMISTS—The farther south you go into Lower Michigan, the more you are impressed with the fact that the people are quite certain the Straits of Mackinac bridge will be a $99 million failure.

Their comments on the project ranged from mild skepticism to downright predictions of complete collapse of the structure. They hinted darkly of winds blowing it over, sleet and snow weighting it down, and ice floes knocking its props from under it.

"I like the boat trip anyway," said one newspaperman. "On our vacation the boat crossing was the highlight of our trip."

We asked him where he had gone in the Upper Peninsula and he replied: "No place. When we get to St. Ignace we come back on the next boat. Really fine trip!"

UNCONVINCED—Rising to the bait, we began extolling the attractions of the Upper Peninsula and took our listeners on a colorful tour of the region from Tahquamenon Falls to the Porcupine Mountains.

We were just taking a side trip up to the Copper Country and Old Fort Wilkins when we realized that the group had dwindled to one. Oh, well—no doubt they were so jealous of all the Upper Peninsula contains to entertain the visitor that they couldn't bear to hear it all.

Later we discovered some of the group huddled in the snack bar over tall glasses of lemonade. We were invited to join them with the stipulation that we "keep still about God's country."

They continued, nevertheless, to discuss their own localities and their own importance. Such a situation can become very boring, so we sat in morose silence.

STRICTLY NEUTRAL—We began listening again when the talk swung to the subject of a proposed state ferry across Lake Michigan between Frankfort and Menominee.

The ferry is designed to provide additional service to Northern Michigan. But the newspapermen from the northwest section of the Lower Peninsula take an exceedingly dim view of the plan.

"We're neutral," said one, "because we don't believe the legislature will be screwy enough to spend taxpayer's money to speed the tourist on a short route to Menominee—the gateway to Wisconsin."

Just to keep the record straight, I interposed and reminded them that such a state ferry line to Menominee would come in handy when the Straits Bridge collapses, as they had predicted it would.

They looked at each other significantly. "He's talking again," they said. I hastened to assure them that I would say no more and sit and listen. With an open mind. They agreed with all good humor that there's nothing quite so unique as an open mind from the Upper Peninsula. But they let me stay.

The bidding was somewhat strange but the contract was correct. North chose the diamond opening to make it easy for South to show a major suit at the one-level, and also to disguise the weakness of the diamond suit if the combined hands ended up in notrump. (Naturally, North could not know that South had such strength in diamonds.) South's spade response was obviously very weak insofar as the suit itself was concerned, but with a very fair hand as a whole, South took that step to acquire information cheaply and smoothly from his partner.

West led his fourth-highest club, dummy played low, and South won. The king and queen of hearts were unblocked, then South led a spade and went right up with the ace. Needless to say, he hadn't figured on dropping the blank king—the play was made only for safety—but the fall of the king was a nice by-product. Two spades from the closed hand went off on the hearts, and then the diamond finesse was tried. West won, and knocked out the club ace. Declarer then ran his diamonds.

Bare Knees Barred Down At Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (AP)—There'll be no bare knees in University of Michigan buildings this fall.

That's the word from Dean of Women Deborah Bacon and it was directed at coeds.

Dean Bacon said Michigan's "unwritten law" against coeds wearing shorts, blue jeans, slacks and pedal pushers in buildings will be enforced again this year.

"I wonder why it is," said Miss Bacon, "that women of size 12 or under seem to stick to skirts and girls of size 16 or over prefer and made the balance of the tricks because West was squeezed between spades and clubs.

The key play in this case was the spade ace by declarer—or rather, his refusal to take the finesse (in spades) that could not do him any substantial good but which might, if it lost cost him the contract. Observe that if South had finessed to the spade queen, East would have won and knocked out the ace of clubs, and then South would have been in trouble.

Metal, Textiles And Money Run Short

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Tight supplies are showing up unexpectedly in three sectors of the economy: metals, textiles—and money.

In each case the shortage is special, regional or temporary. But it has been enough to raise prices or interest costs. And it is troubling certain businessmen. Some are asking Washington to do something about it.

There was so much copper earlier this year that producers expected the 30-cents-a-pound price to break any day.

Now there is so little to be had that copper futures on the New York commodity exchange have gone to their highest level in two years.

And copper users are urging Washington to release some of the metal earmarked for the nation's strategic materials stockpile so

One trim coed in pedal pushers said:

"The question really boils down to this. Do we have to wear skirts to look dignified?"

Miss Bacon's boiled down answer was: "Yes!"

THE STORY: Mrs. Hilton Carlson, one of the wealthy Carlson clan, takes no pains to hide her distaste for Jim Dunn and his wife Nancy who have taken up residence at The Spires, part of the Carlson Colorado estate. Jim and Nancy are posing as caretakers while working for their client, Mrs. Kit Carlson, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Hilton. Mrs. Hilton has warned Jim against fishing in the lake, saying the fish belong to her.

VIII

Dunn pulled in a deep breath, stretched a grin on his face

which he hoped looked as meaningless as the expression of the younger man. "I have a little message for you to give your Mrs. Hilton. You tell her to keep her fish on her own side of the lake. And you too, for that matter."

"I'll tell her," Philip said agreeably. "But in the meantime . . ." The rest of his sentence was drowned out as he started the motor again. The boat jumped forward. He swung it around snarling with speed as he passed the end of the pier. He made a tight turn passed the pier again, repeated the process.

Dunn timed the turns made a cast when the outboard was most distant. He hoped there were too many hungry fish in the well-stocked lake to be disturbed by the commotion. He was right. Philip couldn't make his turns tight enough to keep the water in constant turmoil. There was always some place for Jim to cast, and he caught two more even larger trout in quick succession. The man waved a hand, made a half turn and swept on across the lake.

"Dunn—Jim Dunn!" He turned toward the main house saw his client standing on the porch still wearing her heavy veil. He walked slowly toward her, climbed the steps. She motioned him inside the house tore off her veil.

Her face was ghastly. "He—I saw him. He's dead, but I saw him. Stoneman."

"Saw who?"

She made a visible effort to

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. get hold of herself. "Who—who was that man in the boat?" "Name's Philip," Jim said. He looked past his client saw the cook standing in a doorway. She turned away as if satisfied with the one-word answer.

"Philip? Philip? Oh!" The last word was a long drawn out sigh of relief. "Philip Stoneman?"

"Philip is all I know," Jim said. Kit Carlson had complete control of herself now. "Thank you, Mr. Dunn. Sorry to interrupt your fishing."

Jim let the last words serve the purpose for which they were uttered showing him out of the house. He had no more interest in fishing, walked slowly toward the caretaker's cabin. He tried to tell himself it would be a shock to anyone seeing a man thought dead by a California swimming pool cavorting around a Colorado lake. Yet there were too many other thoughts that crept unwelcome into his mind. He knew he would have to have a real showdown with his client.

Yet when he reached the steps leading up to the balcony of the caretaker's cabin, he tried to set a smile on his lips the smile of the conquering fisherman.

Nancy opened the door for him. He dropped his creel, his fly rod. "What—what happened to you?" he demanded.

"You like my outfit?" she wanted to know. "It's something dark and dowdy I whipped up. More proper for the servant class you know."

In spite of an excellent trout dinner, Jim Dunn was reduced to pleading by now. "Look, honey, you don't have to wear that all the time do you?" "You mean you don't like the new Nancy?"

Jim looked again and still could not repress a shudder. Nancy's trim blue jeans, gay wool shirt and jacket were gone. Instead she wore a short, tight, black dress with an uneven hem line. A pink slip showed in front, and a shoulder strap showed at the V neck. The dress had tiers of dark red material and a sash with a large buckle too low on the skirt. The sleeves were long. Nancy had pinned her hair back, and had made-up crudely applied. Her shoes were high-heeled black pumps on which she had managed to fasten red bows.

He listened to her explanation, only half understanding. He was willing to let it go that his wife had contrived the "outfit" from things she had brought.

Jim shaded his eyes with one hand. "You're actually going to wear that when you finally meet our client?" "Certainly, I do so look forward to our meeting. Do you think I should curtsy? Or should I content myself with a simple 'Yes mom, no mom?'"

"Depends on the inflection," Jim said judiciously. "Are you really worrying about what I'll say?"

"Frankly, no. Your clothes might be a good idea."

A piece of wood crackled, broke in two in the fireplace. Jim moved reluctantly to put his foot on the glowing ember which had popped out onto the hearth.

He whirled around quickly at the sound of a strangled gasp, a sound completely out of keeping with the mood of the moment.

Nancy had one hand at her throat, was pointing with the other. Her face was very pale now. Firelight shone on the unshaded window at which she pointed. Pressed against the glass was a hideous, misshapen face. (To Be Continued)

Polio Victims Starting Anew

CHICAGO (AP)—Two years ago life crumbled for 31-year-old Dr. Thomas Michiels.

He, his wife and Bobby, 5, the eldest of their three sons, were stricken with polio just after he had invested all his savings in a suburban dental practice.

In the months that followed, Mrs. Michiels died of the malady; Michiels, paralyzed from the neck down, was told he could never practice again, and that Bobby would be paralyzed from the waist down and would never walk.

Today, Michiels announced that he and Mrs. Rhea Wallace, a 26-year old widow, will be married October 30. He is starting a dental laboratory even though he has lost the use of his arms, and has bought a home on the North Side with some $15,000 raised by residents of suburban Park Ridge and his Loyola University dental school classmates.

Neither Michiels nor Mrs. Wallace—whose first husband died of polio—has doubts.

"I'm sure it will work out," she said, "I really have a lot of confidence in him. We both say that we're going to make this work. And we know it will."

Michiels and Mrs. Wallace met in Columbus Hospital where her husband, Floyd, was Michiels' roommate.

Gen. Maitland To Be Minister

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland told the Battle Creek Enquirer and News today he expects to retire as state director of civil defense and Michigan director of aeronautics within the next year to become an Episcopal minister.

Maitland said he had been an Episcopalian for 25 years and had been thinking about entering the ministry for a long time. He said he definitely made up his mind last year and began his studies in February.

The Rt. Rev. Herman Page, bishop of Northern Michigan, accepted Maitland as a postulant in May. He has been studying with the Rev. George Selway, rector of St. Paul's Church in Lansing.

Maitland, a retired Air Force officer, was military aide to the late Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell, an air pioneer, from 1921 to 1925 and was commander of Clark Field in Manila when the Japs attacked in 1941. He flew the first plane to hop the Pacific from California to Hawaii in 1927 and in 1923 set what was then the air speed record of 244 miles an hour.

In addition to his dual duties as director of civilian defense and aeronautics, Maitland also is Gov. Williams' pilot.

"I'm going into this new work wholeheartedly and sincerely," Maitland told the Enquirer and News. "I have a conviction I can do more good in the ministry than in any other way. I have served Mammon. I now wish to serve God."

Maitland said he would leave his dual state posts not later than next September.

Williams - Leonard Debate Need For Legislative Majority

the budget.

Asked by one of the 1,000 Economic Club members who heard the debate how he explained his statement that "we" balanced the budget, Williams made his first public disclosure of that theory.

He said that when he was elected in 1948, Sigler's controller told him new taxes would be needed and gave him a list of possibilities. One was the corporation profits tax, he said.

New Taxes Fair

He said it took him two years to convince the Legislature the state needed more revenue. Then, he said, the Republicans advocated a series of "nuisance" taxes on soda pop, beer, hotel rooms and so forth.

He argued the 1952 election was fought on that issue and was a "draw," but he said the result was Republican passage of the business receipts tax.

"When I said 'we' balanced the budget I was pretty accurate," the governor said. "The Republicans didn't end up with more excise and nuisance taxes and the governor didn't get his corporation profits tax. But we ended up with a tax which falls on profits and wages about equally."

Williams challenged Leonard to say whether Michigan had serious unemployment since the Republicans won the national administration.

Leonard said unemployment results "from the transition from a war to a peacetime economy. Unemployment cannot be attributed to politics."

Quota On Wheat Angers Farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Angered at what they termed "regimentation of the American farmers," 35 Ohio farmers Monday demanded they be allowed to market their above - quota wheat without paying government penalties of $1.12 a bushel.

The band marched into the office of the Ohio Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. They said none of them ever received federal loans nor subsidies nor had they signed wheat quota cards in the 1954 wheat quota referendum.

They termed loans and subsidies "relief checks."

The group was headed by James Mannix of Greenville who said he represented the independent farmers of Ohio. He claimed delegates were from 34 of Ohio's 88 counties.

Mannix said he had been billed $357 for exceeding the wheat quota. He demanded that the government sue him and that the bill be referred to the U. S. district attorney.

Ohio farmers voted against the quotas in the 1954 wheat referendum but it was approved nationally by farmers. It will affect next year's crops. The farmers voted on whether the government should limit the amount of wheat a farmer may market without penalty. The 1953 referendum was approved by the nation's farmers including Ohioans. It covers this year's yield.

They will appear Thursday Sept. 23, at 10:46 a. m. at Senior High and at 1:30 p. m. at the Junior High School.

Seventh-day Offering Saturday To Benefit Schools In Africa

Four new advanced schools for African natives will benefit from a special offering to be taken Saturday in the Escanaba Seventh-day Adventist Church at 19th and Ludington Sts.

Schools in Liberia, the Gold Coast, and Nigeria in West Africa and one in Ethiopia will be established by funds raised here and in all Adventist churches of the United States and Canada, Saturday, Elder R. E. Eckerman, pastor, announced Monday.

In pointing to the great need for spiritual, mental and physical aid in Africa, Pastor Eckerman said, "Many African areas are on the eve of self-government. They are at a crucial formative period in their history. It is now, at this developing stage of their thinking and history, that the Christian message in all its power and import should be proclaimed."

"Naturally," he said, "the best way to spread Christianity in any country is to use trained nationals. That is why Adventists establish training schools wherever they work."

Pastor Eckerman said his denomination operates nearly 5,000 schools from elementary through graduate level.

Saturday's offering will be taken by the Sabbath school of the church. This is in addition to the regular weekly offerings made for missions, Pastor Eckerman said.

Children and adults of all tastes and interests are invited to come and confer with the attendant in charge. Suggestions will be made as to how the best of reference books may be secured, what is best and the latest in popular fiction, how foreign language books may be made available, and many other matters having for the purpose the enlarged use of the printed page.

The Bookmobile will arrive here on the afternoon of Monday, Oct. 4 and will be parked near the high school. In the evening the sponsors will present a movie at the high school auditorium. There will be no charge and the public is invited to attend.

The Bookmobile will make stops at Doyle and Mueller townships and at Germfask shortly after its appearance here. The exact time of its appearance in these places will be announced in a few days.

Giants And Indians To Clash In Series

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants open the World Series in the Polo Grounds a week from Wednesday and the flags in Florida probably are flying at half mast.

The Indians and Giants shunned the orange juice circuit to train in Arizona. With only the Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles around for major league companions, the two clubs played each other often enough to know the players by heart.

On their barnstorming tour back to the majors the Giants whipped the Indians 13 times in 21 games, often by such scores as 20-14 or 13-9.

Lopez Predicted Win
Al Lopez flatly predicted a pennant for his Indians and made good as of last Saturday. Now he's after a new all-time high in victories.

Leo Durocher said he never made predictions, then quickly added his Giants, with the return of Willie Mays, "will be a lot stronger."

"Brooklyn is the team to beat," Leo said in April.

He followed his own advice. He beat them opening day with Willie Mays hitting a 425 foot home run and Monday night in Ebbets Field, home of the Dodgers, Durocher's men clinched the pennant with a 7-1 victory.

Appropriately Willie Mays picked the occasion to take over the National League batting lead with three hits. The "Say Hey" kid is hitting .344.

Barber Is Sharp
Sal "The Barber" Maglie was razor sharp as he scattered five hits. The only Brooklyn run came in the third when Maglie walked Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider with two out. Gil Hodges followed with what started out to be a routine fly, then it sank rapidly in the murky night and fell just in front of Mays, who made a belly slide on the slick turf.

The Giants jumped out to a two run lead in the first inning on a walk to Whitey Lockman. Al Dark's single followed by a sacrifice and singles by Mays and Hank Thompson.

Don Mueller's single and doubles by Thompson and Monte Irvin produced two more in the sixth.

While the Giants were clinching their flag, the Indians won their 11th straight and ran their victory total to 109, only one short of the American League record set by the 1927 Yankees.

Feller Notches Win
Bobby Feller pitched the Indians to a 7-4 triumph over the Chicago White Sox with the help of home runs by Larry Doby and Vic Wertz. Cleveland has five more games to play.

The battles for fourth place, and its share of the rich World Series loot, tightened in both leagues. Cincinnati split with Milwaukee, winning 3-1 after losing 6-2, and holds a two game lead over St. Louis. The Cardinals defeated Chicago 7-2 with five runs in the 10th inning. The idle Philadelphia Phillies are less than half a percentage point behind the Cardinals.

Boston held fourth in the American League with a 5-2 triumph over the Athletics. Detroit, half a game back of the Red Sox, defeated Baltimore 4-3 and Washington, another half game behind, shaded the Yanks 3-2.

Mays Takes Over Lead In Batting
NEW YORK (P)—Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Cleveland's Bobby Avila probably will bring league leading batting averages into the 1954 World Series.

Mays took over the National League's top spot Monday night with a 3-for-5 performance against Brooklyn, giving him a .344 mark.

Meanwhile, Duke Snider of the Dodgers, the pace-setter since June 20, went hitless in three tries and dropped to .340.

Avila holds a comfortable lead over runner-up Minnie Minoso of Chicago in the American League. He's batting .337 to Minnie's .326.

Don Mueller of the Giants, who boasts 201 hits, is a close third in the National League with .338. He's followed by Stan Musial of St. Louis with .333 and Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati with .330.

Irv Noren of the New York Yankees, the mid-season American League leader, is now No. 3 with a .321 average. Nellie Fox of the White Sox is fourth with .320 and Detroit's Harvey Kuenn, the circuit's top man in hits with 198, is fifth with .312.

Milwaukee Ace Spahn Sets League Record
MILWAUKEE (P)—The first lefthander pitcher in National League history ever to win 20 games in six different seasons figures to keep right on going.

Warren Spahn, only the fourth National League hurler in modern annals to hit the 20 mark that many times, said Monday after posting a 6-2 win over Cincinnati for the Milwaukee Braves that he thought he'd do even better next season. The Braves triumph gave Spahn a 1954 mark of 20-12.

"I feel I can win maybe 25 next year if everything goes right," he said.

Spahn has won 165 games in his 10 years of major league pitching, all for the Braves. Over that 10-year period, which started in 1942 but with three years out for Army service, he's lost 110.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

As in most sports, football may well be called a game of inches . . . And a couple of inches might turn out to be the difference between Manistique's winning and not winning the Great Lakes Conference championship this season . . . Because the Emeralds were a few inches offside last Friday night when Bill Holm balled through the Nequaunee line for an 80-yard touchdown jaunt . . . The score was nullified, of course, and Nequaunee went on to win a 6-0 game . . . And with Soo apparently on the march, that loss might cost Manistique the conference crown.

The Escanaba Eskimos, after their bruising battle at Green Bay East Friday night, take a much needed rest this weekend . . . They return to action at Menominee Oct. 2 . . . Coach Joe Milokna says we were right when we mentioned last week that East has players three-deep at every position . . . East used 38 players in the game, and had more on the bench.

Three names famous with the Detroit Tigers will be in Marquette to play with an Oldtimers team against the Marquette Shoreland baseball team Saturday, Oct. 2 . . . Bolstering the Oldtimers will be Dizzy Trout, Steve Souchock and Bob Swift . . . They are planning a bird hunting sojourn in the Marquette area.

U. P. football notes: Eddie Vergara, Iron River halfback, scored three touchdowns as the Redskins extended their victory string to 16 by blasting Norway 47-0 . . . Allen Defaut, the deaf halfback who showed great promise last year at Menominee, appears to have come of age . . . He picked up 84 yards and scored twice in four trips with the ball against Janesville . . . Soo outtrushed Ishpeming 219 yards to 66 while posting its third straight win of the season, 27-0 . . . Ironwood's 32-0 drubbing at the hands of Hurley snapped an 11-game winning streak.

High Hopes For Marquette Team

By CHRIS EDMONDS
MILWAUKEE (P)—Marquette has hopes this fall of parlaying a veteran squad and a new coach into one of the better teams it has fielded in 33 years of independent college football.

F. L. (Frosty) Ferrazza, a 44-year-old product of Wisconsin high school ranks, has inherited 24 lettermen from the squad which dropped only three games last fall by a total of nine points.

Ferrazza brought a record of only 16 losses in 82 games at Green Bay West High School. He took over the Marquette coaching from Liz Blackburn, who resigned last winter to move up to the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Start 10 Lettermen
Ten of the lettermen are likely starters against Wisconsin's loaded Badgers at Madison in the opener Saturday. The lone newcomer will be at left end, and only because co-capt. George Brehm fractured his leg during spring drills. Dick Varish, 183, senior, and Howie Wandrey, 184, sophomore, are battling for the berth.

The remainder of the starting crew will have co-capt. Tom Bratz, 205, at end; Jim Pastorski, 205, and Frank Scaffidi, 230, tackles; Mary Syvetsko, 205, and Stan Andrie, 197, guards; Ed Jarosz, 186, center; Dick Shockey, 205, at quarter; Ron Drzewiecki, 180, and Don Molenda, 190, at the halves, and Dave Donarski, 185, fullback.

Shockey, whose 6-3 frame and rugged construction make him an ideal split T quarterback, and Drzewiecki, a brilliant runner, are the spearheads of the Marquette offense. Shockey ranked among the nation's top 20 backs in total offense last fall, while Drzewiecki has led Marquette in scoring and ground gaining the past three years and boasted a 6.7 average last season.

Despite Drzewiecki's proven ability, a 190-pound sophomore has been pushing him. Lee Hermesen, who played under Ferrazza at Green Bay, is as fast and fancy as Drzewiecki and packs more straight ahead power.

Now Named Warriors
It's been years, but almost as far as the 1936 Cotton Bowl team, since Marquette has had prospects as bright as this fall's.

The Warriors — students discarded the Hilltopper tag in favor of the new nickname last spring — meet Miami of Ohio and Cincinnati at home after the Wisconsin game. Then, in order, come Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; Fordham here, Detroit at Detroit, Boston College here and College of the Pacific and Michigan State at Stockton, Calif., and East Lansing, respectively.

Marquette was beaten last year by Indiana, 21-20; Wisconsin, 13-11, and Michigan State, 21-15. College of the Pacific gained a 20-20 tie.

CHOW'S ON—No second call is needed to get these Michigan Tech Huskie gridders to don the feel bag. Above scene was taken at Michigan Tech's Memorial Union where Manager Frank Harwood has been busy "building up" the Tech energy. Pictured are: veterans, Ed Bishop, L'Anse guard, tackle Jim Nyquist of Escanaba, both seniors and rookies out for the first time, ends, Art Hamman, Battle Creek and Terry Sullivan, Ipp Mountain. Hamman, a junior, is out for football for the first time. All should prove to be main stays in the Tech forward wall for Coach Al Bovard.

Adopted Houston's Athletics Soar With Cullen's Millions

HOUSTON—(NEA)—On Nov. 30, 1953, a kindly man with long white hair worn after the fashion of frontiersmen stepped before a brimming college auditorium and startled the assembly with:

"The great spirit and determination shown by the Cougars last Saturday in defeating Baylor, 37-7, filled me with enthusiasm and prompts me to do something for our great university."

He announced he was giving The University of Houston $2,250,000.

The man was H. R. Cullen, multi-millionaire Houston philanthropist. Actually, the Cullen gift had been in process of transfer for two months. But Hugh Roy's flair for the dramatic and affection for the school he adopted during the mid-Forties prompted the announcement at a pep rally.

Cullen is Mr. Cougar himself. He handed the school more than $25,000,000 in cash and oil royalties, and built several huge limestone and marble buildings. He serves as chairman of the board of regents.

Some would cattily insinuate Cullen's money has been the platform from which the Cougars sprung into big-time football. Basically, that would be true. But the same holds true for the school's science department, its department of English, engineering, law and so on.

Only three all-state football players have found their way to UH locker rooms. They have been just as rare in basketball, track and tennis.

A year or two ago, no less than nine varsity gridders from four different Southwest Conference schools sought admission as transfers.

Report Dressen Has Feelers From Majors
LOS ANGELES (P)—Charlie Dressen, whose Oakland team finished third in the Pacific Coast League this year, told reporters Monday that he has had feelers from major league clubs for 1955.

The Los Angeles Examiner reported that Dressen has agreed to terms with an unnamed club and the announcement is planned after the World Series.

Dressen managed Brooklyn in 1951-52-53, winning the pennant the last two years.

fers. Coach Clyde Lee advised each boy to go back to where he came from.

Jack Patterson's thin track forces certainly could have used the two distance runners from the 1948 Olympic Games who turned up on campus, seeking admission. They were turned away.

"Nobody would ever believe," says Patterson, "that they just showed up here seeking admission."

How Houston got its first Southwest Conference game has made for interesting speculation among rivals.

Baylor, a Baptist school which has received several large Cullen gifts, in 1950 became the first SWC school to schedule the ambitious Cougars. Did Mr. Cullen promise Baylor a new building to play Houston? Or a library? Or cash? Or a new stadium?

"Mr. Cullen," says Athletic Director Harry Fouke emphatically, "never gave Baylor one cent to get them to play us. With new stadiums being built in Houston and Waco, Stone Wells, a Baylor booster and official, and I agreed that a series would be mutually beneficial."

"So the two schools got together with the idea of opening each other's stadium. The municipal stadium idea we were counting on here fell through, so we played the first game in Baylor's new and then still uncompleted plant."

"We drew 28,000 and got beat pretty badly. We drew 55,000 in Houston the next year and got beat again. But we established one fact—Houston would draw."

Despite the jeers (foes call the school Cougar High), The University of Houston continues to grow stronger athletically.

Welterweights Score Upsets
NEW YORK (P)—The welterweight rankings were due for a shakeup today following upset victories scored Monday night by unranked Hector Constance and Luther Rawlings in televised tussles.

Constance, a 26-year-old sharpshooter from Trinidad, won a split 10-round decision over 1-3 favored Chico Varona, fourth ranking 147-pounder from Cuba, at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Rawlings, a one-time leading lightweight from Chicago, stopped 10th ranking Frankie Fernandez of Honolulu in 2:29 of the second round at St. Nicholas Arena. The Hawaiian was a 5-11 choice.

Subbing on four days notice for Del Flanagan, No. 2 welter, Constance rallied in the last four rounds to win the votes of two judges, 7-3 and 6-3. Referee Mark Conn had Chico in front, 6-4.

Fernandez (144 1/2) outclassed Rawlings (148) in the first round and had the last Chicagoan reeling. But in the second, Rawlings caught Frankie with a barrage and referee Abe Simon halted the bout.

Oklahoma Is No. 1 In Football Poll

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (P)—The University of Oklahoma, ranked right behind Notre Dame in pre-season forecasts, are rated today the No. 1 college football team in the country.

Bud Wilkinson's Sooners, who crushed California 27-13 in their opener, top the first weekly Associated Press poll of the season. The nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave them 56 first-place votes, good for 789 points.

Notre Dame, which will get its baptism of fire under Terry Brennan against Texas Saturday, was ranked second with 613 points.

Georgia Tech, which was sixth in the pre-season poll moved past Illinois, which hasn't played yet, on the basis of its crushing 26-6 victory over Tulane.

Indians Seek To Tie Yank Record

CLEVELAND (P)—Today is another big day for the Cleveland Indians — this afternoon a parade and tonight a try to win victory 110 and tie the 1927 New York Yankees as the biggest winners in the American League's 54-season history.

Some 250,000 persons are expected to line the route of the hour and a half long parade from east side to west side. The Tribe will ride in decorated convertibles accompanied by three bands.

The Indians take the field at Municipal Stadium tonight against the Chicago White Sox whom they beat 7-4 Monday night and play again Wednesday. They have an 11-game winning string going.

Even if they lose tonight, the Indians have four more games in which to get the two victories they need to better the winning record of the 1927 Ruth-Gehrig Yankees.

Sports Roundup

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (P)—Specialists who have examined the Brooklyn Dodgers in an effort to discover what happened to their internal machinery this season are able now to report that the defending league champions simply came down with the slows under the direction of their new manager, Walt Alston.

If the Brooks continue at their present pace, they will finish the season with approximately half as many stolen bases as they racked up for aggressive Chuck Dressen last year — 43 as against 90.

They will have grounded into about 25 more double plays than against the 115 that were chalked up signaling for the hit and run. Their opponents over the season will commit some 35 fewer errors than they did last year, when they were jittery under the pressure of the Dodgers' running game.

There is no disposition to blame

Alston. He inherited a club which had aged one year, and he probably was told that he could sit back and let his veterans drive the runs across. If so, he was a victim of poor advice.

They'll have to peddle the Philadelphia Athletics to some section of the country other than Texas. A recent week spent in that state disclosed that the desire to possess a big league team of any description has abated to the vanishing point.

"It was silly in the first place," asserted a leading citizen of Dallas, which only a few months back was yelling its civic head off, "if this town couldn't support a professional football club, how could it expect to support big league baseball?"

Another discouraging item is the heat. The record spell of 100-degree weather they've lived through around Dallas and Fort Worth this summer would have made an awful ordeal of daytime ball.

Tigers Win To Remain In Thick Of Race For Fourth Place Position

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were keeping a hand in today in an American League stretch drive of their own—along with Washington and Boston.

Thanks to young Bob Miller's ninth inning relief pitching, the Tigers beat the Baltimore Orioles Monday night 4-3 to hold their ground in the run with the Red Sox and Senators for fourth place.

Miller, relieving Ray Herbert with the bases full and one out, retired two batters and Detroit escaped with its 26th one-run victory of the year.

This kept the fifth-place Tigers a half game out of fourth place, trailing Boston, and a half game ahead of Washington in sixth place. The Tigers' fate as to a share of World Series money—fourth place is necessary—will be told within the five remaining games of the season.

They'll try again against Baltimore again tonight. Ned Garver will go after his 15th victory against 10 defeats. His opponent will be former Tiger Lou Kretlow 6-10.

Jim Delsing, with two doubles and a single, drove in three of Detroit's runs last night and Bob Wilson the fourth.

For the kickoff, tackle Embury Robinson, who kicked off in the Rose Bowl, probably will get first call. Fullback Jerry Planutis can also get off a long ball.

The choice of a punter probably will depend on just who is in at quarterback. Both Earl Morrill and John Matscock can get away a booming punch.

On the MSC practice field Monday, coach Duffy Daugherty gave the first two teams stiff drills on pass protection and defense against Iowa line plays.

Ron Latronica, sophomore tackle, suffered a split lip in the scrimmage and had to be taken out to undergo some stitching.

Soph To Start For Wolverines

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan today picked his starting eleven for the Washington game at Seattle Saturday. Only one sophomore was included.

He is fast moving, sure-handed Ron Kramer of East Detroit, who will handle the starting left end spot. At right end will be veteran Gerry Williams of Flint.

Oosterbaan's backfield will feature the passing arm of Duncan McDonald at quarterback and the powerful legs of Tony Branoff at right halfback.

Lou Baldaac's agile footwork in scrimmages this fall has made him first choice in the fullback position.

Danny Cline of Brookport, N. Y. will be the starting left halfback, ably supported by Dave Hill of Ypsilanti.

Capt. Ted Caneby will start at left guard and veteran Ed Meads will handle the right guard position. Art Walker will be the starting left tackle.

John Peckham or Johnny Morrow may start at center and Ron Geyer at right tackle.

MORE AIR, LESS HEAT—The now-famous Norge principle of greater air power combined with lower heat and gentle tumbling makes this dryer so much easier on clothes. Heat never goes above 140°. Triple-size fan pours 150 cu. ft. of fresh air per minute directly into clothes.

DRYING'S A CINCH—Simply load your wash in the Norge and set the Timer knob. No wet clothes to lug outdoors, no soot-soiled or rain-streaked washes, no sun-faded colors or wind-torn fabrics. And your towels will be fluffier, knit tags softer, sheets so much easier to iron.

FULL SIZE, NOT A "JUNIOR" MODEL—This handsome new Norge Dryer holds a full-sized load of clothes, teams perfectly with your automatic washer. The cylinder, clothes port and door are all extra-large for easy loading. And the work-surface top is standard 36" counter height.

NORGE'S 30-DAY MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE—If, after using the Norge Dryer in your own home for 30 days, you are not completely satisfied—your Norge dealer will refund your money in full. (This is in addition to the usual long-term parts warranties.)

Now! Automatic drying within reach of every homemaker... Norge has done the seemingly impossible—designed an electric dryer that sells for under $150, yet outperforms many luxury models costing up to half again as much! See it demonstrated now! (Gas model also available.)
